Why Cyber Insurance?

Do you:

- Store your clients' financial data on a shared network drive?
- Process client fees and payments electronically?
- Connect your professional tools to your clients' network systems?
- Allow employees to access client data on their own devices?

If you answered “Yes” to any of the above, you could be exposed to cyberattacks. Cyber insurance covers losses and expenses to recover from an incident including legal and client notification services.

Common Cyber Risks for Accountants

Compromise of Client Data

- Cyber incidents might lead to the compromise of clients' financial data.
- Incidents can also block access to client financial files.
- Cyber insurance can cover expenses to recover, notify impacted parties and handle reputation damage costs.

Lost or Stolen Phone, Computer, or Tablet

- Employees often have access to substantial financial and sensitive data. A stolen/lost device can compromise your clients' and firms' data.
- This could result in lawsuits from clients.
- Cyber insurance can cover breach investigation, notification of impacted individuals, and legal services if needed.

Business Interruption

- Shutdown due to a cyber incident such as a ransomware attack.
- A cyberattack could impact your data backups as well, making it nearly impossible to restore your clients' sensitive files.
- Cyber insurance can cover the loss of revenue and the cost of rebuilding computer systems.

Other Risks: Ransomware, Compromised Payment Information & Bricking
